

Indigenous Student Employment Opportunity

Summary

<https://dcc-cdc.gc.ca/english/careers/>

Are you a student interested in the construction management field? Are you excited by the prospect of supporting infrastructure projects at one of Canada's military bases in Ontario? We are looking for students in the construction management, environment, and project management field who have strong critical thinking, writing, and interpersonal skills to join one of our site office teams.

Defence Construction Canada is a dynamic and fast-paced Crown corporation. Our more than 900 employees—all civilians—work in offices across the country, often co-located on military bases. Our clients include the Canadian Forces and the Department of National Defence's infrastructure and environment programs. Our corporate values are dedication, collaboration, competence, and fairness. These values guide our actions, the way we make decisions and how we conduct our business. To help us lead the way, we are looking for highly motivated, ready to learn, and reliable individuals who want to contribute their best.

As part of DCC's ongoing efforts to recruit a diverse workforce, the National Indigenous Student Work Experience Program offers Indigenous students a 2–4-month work experience term. This is a great opportunity for Indigenous students to be exposed to a work environment and to expand their skills.

We are excited to have several opportunities in Ontario at the following locations:

- Kingston
- Trenton
- Borden (Barrie)
- Petawawa
- North Bay
