

Redesign of Park Lands & new Recreation and Cultural Facility

The 1010 Somerset Community Hub Concept Plan team would like to invite two members from your community to join us for an engagement session to share your knowledge and perspectives on two important community initiatives in the City of Ottawa.

First session: Redesign of Park Lands

We are inviting Indigenous community members and partners to share their knowledge, experiences, and perspectives to help guide the future of Plouffe Park and the adjacent 1010 Somerset Street West park lands.

Through informal, conversation-based discussions, we hope to learn what you value most about this space and how it can be improved to better reflect its cultural and historical significance while serving the needs of the community.

Input gathered through engagement sessions will directly help inform the final design and ensure the park meets community needs.

Second session: Recreation & Cultural Facility

The new Recreation and Cultural Facility project aims to create a vibrant, inclusive space that supports community wellbeing, cultural expression, and recreational activities. The facility will provide opportunities for programming, gathering, and connection, reflecting the needs and values of the community it serves.

Engagement feedback will help shape the vision, design, and future use of the space.

This facility will be designed as an extension to the existing Plant Bath recreation facility and in conjunction with the new French language public school being built on site.
